

Abstract:

Abarkuh city with a history of several thousand years of civilization , that the several evidences of this old place is in own, for example four thousand years old cupress, huge mounds of ash, Achaemenid era aqueduct andThe formation of this city on rock bed is a wise policy, to Exposure to Risk such as floods , The result is a unique city with urban characteristics. This historic town has many fine architecture, and is also valuable, Beautiful historic gardens and stately homes, The image of the Paradise heavenly to visualize at Mind of Terrestrial viewer, All indicate that the region's master architect architecture. Preservation of a worthy monument is a goal that emerge in this study. In this regard, the research method is descriptive - analytical study through field and library collections in order to achieve accurate recognition, was used. Complex of study is residential complex Maryam Khanom that is belongs to the Ghajar period, and include exterior and interior and garden, bathroom and garret . over time it has hurt, to this reason was tried that damage identification and appropriate treatment should be adopted Identification And then it will provide the necessary conditions for life.

Keywords:

Abarkuh, Residential complex Maryam Khanom, Bed Rock, Restoration, Revitalization

