

Abstract:

Azarakhsh fire temple (Stone Mosque) is among the monuments of the city Darabgerd. And has a cross structure. That was probably the beginning of the Aryan Mithraism temples and the Sassanid fire temple has become and after the advent of Islam and the Mosque of change has to be added to the sanctuary.

Structural Stone Mosque of Iranian architecture and given that the alternative is dug in the mountain there buttress natural dams which have survived to the present context is the mountain. But over AGES is a functional and physical exhaustion Due to the need for maintenance of the monument, it seems necessary, repair and restoration of stone mosque to coexist with modern architecture done.

This project will attempt to provide a theoretical basis, the project restored the building proper, necessary measures in order to preserve and transfer all the values to the next generations removed.

This thesis is defined in Chapter ∞:

Chapter I: General

Chapter Two: Understanding

Chapter III: Experience Restoration

Chapter IV: Pathology monument

Chapter Five: Restoration Project

Keywords: fire temple, stone Mosque Restoration