

Abstract

Peeling paint on wood painting is one of the most common damages that could be created by different factors through passing time. In this research technical studies and pathology, of painting decorations in the Sqanfar neighborhood , BABOLSAR, Mazandaran province , Relying on the causes of Peeling paint paint layer were carried out. according to experiments, , these paintings techniques and damages were recognised And suggestions for treatment and restoration of these works were presented. The results of chemical tests and analytical instruments ( AAS ,FTIR , XRD ) have shown that Used paints have mineral origin and to cite to library studies conservation plan was presented.

Keywords: technical studies, pathology, treatment and conservation plan, paint peeling